COUNCIL UPDATES

STORES TO SHORES TAKES FIRST STEP, TREE PRUNING BACK ON TRACK

Hello everyone, and happy Autumn!

With colder weather approaching, the City is busy on a number of exciting projects that will wrap up before winter. In anticipation of next spring's Cedar and Hall Street re-alignments, part of the Stores to Shores Downtown Revitalization, crews will be preparing the intersection of Cedar and Front Street for new traffic flow. Next year, Cedar Street will be resurfaced along with a number of changes slated for the current five-way intersection on Vernon Street — all of which will improve traffic flow and improve pedestrian safety. With these improvements Cedar Street will serve as a new gateway to the downtown core.

The first phase of the Hall Street project — slated for the 500 block (Baker to Herridge Lane) — has been delayed and the project expanded to add the 400 block (Baker to Vernon Street) and 300 block (Vernon to Lake Street). Currently under design, the expanded project is scheduled to begin in the spring of 2015. Originally slated to begin in early September, the first phase of the Stores to Shores project has been postponed due to a tight construction schedule, which would have put the project over budget.

Hundreds of City of Nelson trees are facing brighter futures now that City Council has discussed public concerns regarding tree pruning along Nelson Hydro's power lines. After receiving inquiries regarding pruning operations late this summer, Mayor John Dooley and Council requested a review of the program as well as input from City of Nelson staff and the Certified Utility Arborist hired to do the work. Public Works and Utilities Director Colin Innes says future pruning work will be done with a more holistic approach in mind, an approach made possible by the fact the City is in a unique position of owning the utility as well as being a steward of over 30,000 trees on its property and parkland.

NELSON POLICE DEPARTMENT

Walk this way. And drive this way too.

With daylight waning and roads soon to be slippery, here are some safe walking tips...

- Always use a designated crosswalk.
- Always make eye contact with drivers when crossing the street. Never assume that a driver has seen you.
- Remove your earbuds/headphones and never talk, text or use electronic devices in an intersection.
- Wear reflective materials at night to increase your visibility. This is especially important in wet weather and dark conditions when drivers may not be able to see you.

...and some safe driving tips too.

- Always be on the lookout for pedestrians — especially in dark, wet weather when visibility is limited, at intersections and near transit stops where pedestrians will be coming and going and may not use crosswalks
- When turning at an intersection, scan the crosswalk to make sure there are no pedestrians.
- If a vehicle is stopped in front of you or in the lane next to you, they may be yielding for a pedestrian, so be prepared to stop.

FINANCE - UPDATE

THANKS NEIGHBOUR! CITY ASSISTS THREE VILLAGES

In an effort to help neighbouring municipalities tackle increasing public sector accounting requirements, the City of Nelson has struck an innovative deal with three Central Kootenay Regional District villages. Following a needs assessment conducted by the Columbia Basin Trust, the Villages of Salmo, Slocan and Silverton have entered into individual agreements with The City. Each of those agreements will see City of Nelson staff provide monthly and annual accounting services and budgetary planning assistance to the villages — efforts that will be of considerable benefit to the three of them, and The City as well. City staff will ensure the villages' accounts are reconciled monthly, create year-end financial statements and audit file, as well as assist with the preparation of annual budgets and Five Year Financial Plans, all at a very affordable rate.

OPERATIONS DEPARTMENT - UPDATE

Boulevard tree and leaf pick up

With fall in full swing, here's a friendly reminder to please rake tree leaves off your boulevard onto the road beside the curb. Rake them loosely too — there's no need to place them in piles or bags, and please don't cover catch basins. Simply call 250-352-8238 for pick-up.

Sidewalk clearance: Overgrown trees, bushes and hedges

While you're out taking care of your leaves... remember that private hedges, shrubs and tree branches growing over public sidewalks narrows the area folks have to walk on. Property owners are asked to prune any sidewalk overgrowth.

Clear the lane: City and Nelson Fire and Rescue checking for obstructions

Both the City's Operations Department and Nelson Fire and Rescue will be conducting alley assessments looking for any encroachments on city alleys. That includes composters, garbage containers, overgrown plants, retaining walls, fences, utility trailers, camping trailers and boat trailers — all to ensure unobstructed access for fire trucks, ambulances, police vehicles and city garbage trucks. As per Traffic Bylaw No. 3156, residents whose belongings are partially blocking alleyways will be given a written notice which gives 14 days to remove the obstruction.
